

HELLO.

WE'RE 116 & WEST.

WHO WE ARE:

We're a full-service agency without a vertical. But don't mistake this fact for wandering non-commitment; our direction comes from geography. We know the West. We understand the Western mindset, the influence of open space, and the vibrancy of our cities. Located on the 116th meridian, our identity describes our roots and expertise.

OUR PROCESS:

Through our many years as an agency, we've perfected our craft. We have processes and structure, yes, but we also balance these with open forum and courage. Our process isn't linear; it's not the same for each client. But we're damn good at knowing when to take the deep plunge into R&D and when to pipe down and just create.

We carve various paths depending on what each client needs. With everyone, though, we work in infinite, concentric circles. Each brainstorming session, conversation, creative revision, strategy move, and meeting takes us further and further inward toward the ultimate target.

In our mind, the most important part of our strategy is collaboration. You're involved every step of the way. Sometimes, we'll take your lead, other days, we'll ask you to believe in our tactics. No matter what, we keep in constant contact and will seek your approval.

OUR EXPERTISE:

With over 20 years in the agency world, we have experience in almost every business sector you can think of. Our varied client history means we can consistently draw from what we've learned and apply that knowledge to new insights and recommendations. We can also make valuable connections between industries, and are great and finding new ways to tell old stories.
